What does PEFC do ?

PEFC is your assurance that wood for paper and timber products comes from forests that are sustainably managed. The following principles are part of PEFC certified forestry:

- No more wood is harvested than is regrown.
- Trees are replanted or naturally regenerated after harvesting.
- Workers' rights and welfare are protected.
- Local employment is encouraged.
- Indigenous peoples' and owners' rights, i.e. those who earn their livelihoods from and/or live in the forest, are respected.
- Forests are maintained as habitats for wild animals and plants.
- Functions of forests for the protection of water, soil and climate are protected.
- Biodiversity of forest ecosystems is conserved.
- The origin of the wood raw material is verified.

What is PEFC ?

PEFC certification is a transparent system of forest inspection plus a means of tracking timber and paper, from harvested tree through to the finished product.

Why certify forests ?

Forest certification grew out of concern for the preservation of tropical forests and as a proactive alternative to timber boycotts.

Forest certification provides an assurance that the timber and paper products you are buying come from legal and sustainable sources.

Who is supporting PEFC ?

PEFC is supported by environmental organisations, trade unions, state authorities, forest owners and managers, timber traders as well as producers and retailers of paper and timber products.
